

RAPID FIRE GUNS
FOR THE POSTWonderful Engines of Destruction to Be Installed.

GREAT ARTILLERY DEPOT

OFFICER OF MILES' STAFF TALKS OF FORT DOUGLAS.

Lieutenant Colonel Henry H. Whitney, an aide to Lieutenant General Miles, spent yesterday in Salt Lake City, on route to the Pacific coast on a tour of rest and recreation. He is accompanied by Mrs. Whitney. The couple spent a pleasant day visiting with old friends at Fort Douglas. Later a number of officers and their wives called and spent the evening with the visitors.

"Fort Douglas is a unique post in its way, and will be one of the most interesting in America as soon as the battery equipment is received," declared the colonel. "Out of a total of thirty field batteries, not enough by far to give one to each state, this post has been favored with two. A battery is the most interesting thing to be found in the army. No other branch of the service is progressing so rapidly and no other branch will have the significance in warfare in the future."

Rapid-fire Guns.

"Wonderful experiments and tests are being made at this time, and it will be long before rapid-fire guns capable of throwing twenty-three thirty-pound shells a minute will be installed at all these posts that have field batteries. The possibilities of these modern guns throwing shrapnel is almost beyond human comprehension. In their death-dealing powers, at the same time an automatic revolver is being examined with a view to adoption, equipped with magazine to give the user to fire nine shots almost as quickly as one can be fired now. The rapid-fire guns have been tested up to the point where they are to be taken to Fort Riley and dragged about to demonstrate their mobility.

"This post is properly an artillery post. The land and canyon afford an excellent opportunity to drill in marching and in moving a battery on just the kind of ground that it is likely to have to contend with in action. It will be worth a great deal to the city in addition to its attractiveness to have the batteries here when they are fully equipped."

Improvement of Post.

"Something may be heard soon in connection with the effort to rehabilitate the post. The department board upon whose recommendation such improvements are usually made, will meet next Monday. Major Jones has obtained permission to donate the capacity of the post at slight expense, and I think it decidedly practical. He contemplates raising the roofs of the barracks and building in an additional story. The lower story of stories, the foundations and the roof will be saved in each instance and the necessary stone can be secured from the hills back of the fort. Of course, it is not in my province to predict what will be done by the board, but I am sure its importance from a geographical standpoint, from the standpoint of its proximity to transportation facilities and its central location will not be overlooked. Those who are interested in the matter should rush their recommendations and suggestions to the secretary of war at once."

The automobile in warfare?

"General Miles, who is an authority on those subjects, recently offered to explain the possibilities of the horseless carriage in military life. As a means of quick communication between the advanced guard or some wing of an army and the main body, he regards it as of possible value. The same is true of the machine for ambulance purposes or to mount a light rapid-firing gun on to be rushed about to participate in a skirmish at a ford or something of that sort. As a means of transportation or for general purposes, it is out of the question."

DEPARTURE OF AXTON.

Expected to Retire From the Y. M. C. A. Secretaryship Dec. 12.

John T. Axton, the general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., expects to close his work in the organization Dec. 12. That will be the eighth anniversary of his assuming the secretaryship of the organization, and as he is looking for a message requesting him to report for duty in Washington, D. C., he is naturally anxious to close his work in the Y. M. C. A. on this anniversary. He does not really expect his appointment to a position at the capital to be announced till after Senator Kearney's return from Europe, but that will not be later than the opening of congress, Dec. 2, and he is convinced of the understanding that he had with 'the senator that his appointment will not be long delayed after that time.

There is one other matter of great importance to the Y. M. C. A.

That Mr. Axton hopes to have settled by Dec. 12. That is the expected contribution from George Foster Peabody of New York. Frank W. Hills writes that he and some other gentlemen, much interested in the Salt Lake Y. M. C. A., have arranged a date with Mr. Peabody at which the whole situation will be gone over, and at which it is expected that Mr. Peabody will make known what he will do for the association here. He has already built two fine buildings for the association in other cities, and the feeling is that he is preparing to do the same here. Some of the enthusiastic friends of the local association do not seem to be surprised if the New York philanthropist gives $50,000 to the Y. M. C. A. of this city. A number of the Y. M. C. A. directors and other friends of Mr. Axton's have taken up the matter of giving him a banquet on the evening of the 12th of December. If his appointment and the gift of Mr. Peabody should be announced on or before this date it would make it the grandest day in the history of the association. The banquet will be given in an event.

Socialist banquet.

The Socialist party gave an entertainment and banquet in the Federation of Labor hall last night. A large number of Socialists were present and enjoyed a most pleasant evening. During the early part of the evening the following program was rendered: Song, Socialist quartet; song, Frank Wilson; piano, Miss Ethel Pole; Stanley's dialogue, Miss Ethel Pole; Porter Garrison; debate, "Resolved, That Christianity and Socialism are identical," affirmative, Charles Stewart; negative, A. R. Fisher; duet, Mrs. A. C. Gill; and Miss Douglas; recitation, J. H. Edie; song, H. W. Hanson; song, J. H. Young; duet, Miss Ethel Pole and Miss Nina Spahr. After the program the guests enjoyed a delightful banquet provided by the members of the party.

THOUSANDS OF ELKS
Cincinnati Member Says Salt
Lake Will Be Swamped
Next Summer.

"Cincinnati is going to send a big delegation and one of the best bands in the country to Salt Lake City to the Elks' convention," declared Henry Meliken, a prominent Cincinnati Elks, last evening. Mr. Meliken is enjoying a pleasure tour of the west and made a point to visit this city to look after his personal hotel accommodations at that time.

"We have a committee that will be on here before long to make arrangements for our accommodations. You see, we are expecting about a plane to sleep. We entertained the Elks a few years ago, 25,000 strong, and we know what it means for a city to provide sleeping accommodations at a time like this. In order to be on the safe side we are going to look after that matter ourselves many months in advance of the big show. I have looked over the city and cannot see where you are going to accommodate the people unless citizens throw open their homes."

"Notwithstanding the distance, there is going to be a tremendous throng here, for the reputation of Salt Lake City for hospitality is well known and a great many of us are anxious to see the country and learn something about the City of the Saints. The fact remains, however, that your local committee is going to have a tedious task to perform in arranging sleeping accommodations for all."
